

Consent to Transform

Thank you for having the time and interest to participate in the practice of (re)purposing tokens from your home and heart. I, Bre A. Domescik, understand these materials hold power and significance for each individual participating. Contemplative (re)Purposing is ultimately a therapeutic art and alternative method of keep-sake with the essence of impermanence at the core. No items given over to the process will be returned to you in their originally offered form, i.e. cards, journal entries, written prayers or goals will no longer be legible; photos and trinkets will not be recognizable as such. Only the utmost respect for these items and your connection to them will be amidst the work of the transformative process. Photos will be taken of all items and shared with you prior to and throughout the deconstructive process.

By signing you are stating:

The items listed below belong to me,

I understand my items and materials are being subjected to a process of complete and/or partial destruction for the purpose of art and recreation. I am personally relinquishing these materials for such a sacrifice.
